PREFACE.

This work is offered to the profession as an index to the more characteristic symptoms of the Materia Medica; and my endeavor has been to present only such symptoms as the experiment and experience of many have proved to be characteristic. This work is based on the Repertory to the Manual published in Allentown in 1838 by Dr. C. Hering and the faculty of the College at that place and is, I believe, the first Repertory and Materia Medica published in the English language; to this has been added selections from Boenninghausen's works, Ad. Lippe's Materia Medica, Bell on Diarrhea, Gurnesey, Hering and Jahr. Many of the books referred to are out of print. To the student this repertory may be of value as it will give at a glance the corresponding remedies to symptoms sought for, and the further comparison with the Materia Medica will in the differences of conditions, or locality or combinations give the differences between the remedies having a general symptom in common. I have given first the mental symptoms and then followed in the order as pursued in the Materia Medica Pura. All of the sections are to be compared with generalities. Being well aware that a work of this kind is necessarily imperfect and many very characteristic symptoms are omitted which are known to others I will gratefully receive any suggestions or communications. My thanks are due to Dr. R. H. Bedell for valuable assistance in correcting proofs.
